THE 1988 ECHO YEARBOOK IS ADDING A NEW FEATURE TO THE SENIOR SECTION FOCUSING ON SENIORS WHO DESERVE SPECIAL RECOGNITION FOR THEIR HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITIES AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS. THESE "SENIOR PERSONALITIES" WERE SELECTED FROM NOMINATIONS BY TEACHERS AND OTHER STAFF MEMBERS.

THE 18 "SENIOR PERSONALITIES" SUBMITTED WERE ACCEPTED FROM 36 NOMINATIONS. ALTHOUGH WE WISH MORE SENIORS WOULD HAVE RESPONDED TO THEIR NOMINATIONS, THE PERSONALITIES REPRESENTED IN THIS YEAR'S YEARBOOK REFLECT AND TRULY REPRESENT THE TYPE OF STUDENT IN OUR CLASS OF 1988.

Autumn is a season of change and beauty. Leaves of millions of trees change from green to their own unrestrainably brilliant colors which may range from one end of the spectrum to the other. Together, these colors support and enhance one another to produce a rare beauty that occurs only once a year.

Some of these beautiful leaves appear throughout our Senior section. As our Seniors have faced the many changes and choices occurring in their lives this year, they have, just as the leaves have, shown their inner brilliance by striving toward future goals. Although the range of these goals is as wide as the spectrum, classmates have supported and encouraged one another, and by doing so have made the class of 1988 a truly outstanding one.

"Senior Personality," Elaine Atkins by Shannon Munie

Elaine Atkins plans to pursue a business major in college next year. Her favorite classes were math and information processing and she wants to remember all her teachers, especially the business department staff and Mr. Finch, her track coach.

The only thing Elaine would change about her high school years is that she would study a little harder, but she has enjoyed all of her classes and the sports she's participated in, basketball and track.

Elaine hopes to be working and have a small family ten years from now. She feels that her parents have been the most influential people in her life so far.

"Senior Personality," Sarah Gauger by Lyra Hall

"1-2-3-4-5, Sarah Gauger don't take no jive, 6-7-8-9-10, back it up let's do it again." These words describe the side of senior, Sarah Gauger, that many of us don't know. Sarah is very serious about her future and isn't going to let anyone or anything interfere.

Without a doubt, her brother Paul has influenced her attitude about her future goals greatly. As Sarah sees Paul diligently working towards his dream in medicine, she sees the motivation and confidence, which was achieved through their loving parents. Sarah hopes that someday she will be as good a parent as they are, and that she can give her kids the love and understanding that her parents share.

Sarah hopes to gain experience in service, by helping the school and community as much as she can. Sarah has been active in various activities, such as SSC, Cheerleading, Medical Explorers, Young Life and her Church Youth Group for four years, SADD and W.G. Community Youth Council for two years, and Prom committee and Friendship Dance committee for one year.

With Sarah's organizational skills, she is able to balance her difficult academic schedule, outside jobs, school activities and clubs, and her social life. More importantly, Sarah doesn't let this get in the way of her family.

In addition to her family, Sarah greatly admires the faculty at W.G.H.S. such as Frau

Sarah Gauger

Haase for her vitality and love for life, Mr. Horak as a confidant, and Ms. Voss for her organizational skills. Each and every one of these people have helped Sarah to make decisions which otherwise would have been hard to make on her own.

After high school, Sarah plans to spend the next four to eight years at a good college where she can practice in her many fields of interest. Sarah intends to pursue the medical field, in which she will study nursing, biology, or hospital administration.

In years to come, Sarah sees a bright and successful future ahead, and she will do, "the best possible job she can." In addition to a successful career, a happy family life is important to her. She hopes to "combine the two."

Leaving W.G.H.S., Sarah wants to remember the good times." She will never forget the support of faculty and friends, and she wouldn't change a thing about her high school years. Even though there are hardships that go along with senior years, Sarah's good times over power them and will stay with her for the rest of her days.

"Senior Personality," Jennifer Walton by Alvssa Hilkene

Ask Jennifer Walton about her favorite experiences at Webster Groves High School and she will tell you right away it is her photography. Jennifer, with her camera in hand, is a familiar face at Webster and will have plenty of things to remember about this year.

When not in her darkroom or at the Camera Club — she spends her time as a captain of the flag corps, member of the Art Club and at church Fellowship group.

She says her favorite classes are drawing and painting, photography and yearbook. As for teachers, she will remember Mrs. Knight, Mrs. LeLoup and Mr. Drake.

In future years, Jennifer looks forward to college and pursuing a career.

"Senior Personality," Heather Haneman by Marcy Castle

Heather Haneman is an outstanding senior who has contributed a lot to Webster's drama department. Besides having had a leading role in last year's musical "Guys and Dolls," Heather was also house manager for last year's winter play, prop manager for the spring play and is this year's vice-president of Thespian Troupe 191.

With a great deal of her energies having been concentrated in the area of theater, it was no surprise to find that Heather's favorite class was Mr. Kenney's drama course. She says, "I want to and always will remember Mr. Kenney, he has taught me so much about myself and has always believed in me."

In this year's musical, "Fiddler on the Roof," Mr. Kenney showed not only confidence in Heather's acting but also in her dancing. Heather was cast as the dance captain, a Russian dancer, which is a part that required many hours of practice. But hard work and time spent practicing were nothing new to Heather, her freshman and sophomore years she was a Junior Miss Steam Heat Dancer, attaining the position of captain her sophomore year, and she is presently involved in two dance companies.

As for future plans, Heather says, "I would like to be a dancer." Last summer she received a scholarship to the Milwaukee Ballet, she hopes to go back there this summer.

Tracy Tarpyley

"Senior Personality," Tracy Tarpyley by Lyra Hall

Whether she's planning activities for the student body or helping a friend with a problem, senior Tracy Tarpyley has made time for everyone and everything during her four years of high school. Tracy admires the caring of the faculty and the enthusiasm they have expressed to make a better working relationship with the student body. Not only has the faculty of Webster Groves High School made an impact on Tracy's life, but also her caring parents have given her the guidance and constant support that she needed the most.

During Tracy's high school years, she has been active in a wide range of extra curricular activities. For four years, Tracy has been on the SSC, SLB, J.V. and Varsity Cheerleading. She has also participated in SADD chapter, Varsity Club, 1987 Leadership Committee of Forty, and the Debate team.

Tracy is very optimistic about her future and plans to attend the University of Missouri-Columbia for her basic academic requirements and then transfer to Northwestern to pursue her career as a Broadcast Journalist.

However, now that Tracy is a senior and has become acutely aware of her interests, she wishes she could have developed her field of interest earlier and in a more in depth way.

As Tracy looks on to the future, she hopes to have developed her broadcasting career, and to be successful and heavily involved with a major television network.

But as Tracy leaves the doors of W.G.H.S. for the last time she will remember the spirited class of '88. This special group of friends have helped Tracy "achieve her class goals to make each year a memorable experience." But more importantly Webster Groves High School will never forget Tracy.

"Senior Personality," Charmyn Moore by Jennie Ward

Senior Charmyn Moore enjoyed the school spirit over her years at Webster High. She has given her share of spirit being involved in SAA, and the Catholic Youth Council.

Moore says that she wants to remember "senior activities and unity." She would also like to remember teachers such as Mr. Drake, Mr. Delibar, and Joe Parente.

Although photography was Moore's favorite subject, she plans to pursue a career in Computer graphics or Marketing. Moore plans on attending school at Tuskegee University in Alabama. She says she is "looking forward to meeting new people" in the near future.

Ten years after Moore completes school, she envisions herself running a family and managing a career. After her involvement in school activities Moore should have no problem succeeding in her goals.

Ingrid Montroy

"Senior Personality," Ingrid Montroy by Lyra Hall

From embarrassing moments to rewarding victories, senior Ingrid Montroy has been through it all. Being a senior, Ingrid can look back on her high school years with a smile and say, "I wouldn't change a thing."

Ingrid can remember with a laugh, her freshman year. Her most embarrassing moment occurred at a varsity football game. She tripped over the rope barrier, and fell down in front of a bunch of seniors. However, things like that can be forgotten when Ingrid starts dribbling down the court of Roberts Gym. Ingrid has been on the freshman, J.V. and varsity basketball teams, and has been on the varsity soccer team as well.

The most influential people in Ingrid's life are her parents, who brought her up to be her own person and to make some decisions on her own. Their support has helped and taught her a lot.

After school, Ingrid likes to hang around friends and just clown around before going to work at the Loretta Hilton Theatre. She states, "The best thing about being a senior is being with your friends, being your own person, and acting the way you want to act." These are the things Ingrid wants to remember, her senior year, the best year.

After high school, Ingrid intends to go to a four year college and work towards an architectural or an interior designing field.

Looking ten years ahead, Ingrid sees herself having at least her bachelors degree. Whatever Ingrid does, she won't forget the support of her parents, friends, and faculty, but most importantly, she'll remember the good times.

"Senior Personality," Heidi Prah by Lyra Hall

Through the years, active senior Heidi Prah, has proven to peers and faculty that there's nothing she can't accomplish. Whether she single-handedly aces the ball past opponents at state this year, or enthusiastically cheers on the Hockey Statesmen, she will never forget the people that have made her what she is now.

Heidi believes that friends come first, and the ones you make while in high school, are the ones you'll cherish for the rest of your life. When things get tough all over, you'll know who your true friends are.

Heidi will certainly miss her friends when she attends college, but she is looking forward to meeting new people and making new friends. Heidi will be pursuing Communications as a career, under the influence of her sister, Jennifer.

In addition to her friends, Heidi will never forget special faculty members, whose guidance has led Heidi in the right direction.

Ten years from now, Heidi will look back on Webster Groves High School, and remember the good times that only a senior can fully appreciate. Many regrets may run through Heidi's mind, such as the turmoil of choosing the college that's right for her. What Heidi won't forget though, are the friends that she has made through her activities at the high school, such as, her four years of varsity soccer, and varsity tennis, and her two years of Hockey Cheerleading and SSC.

"Senior Personality," Jeff Schafermeyer
by Shannon Munie

Jeff Schafermeyer has been an active part of Webster Groves High School for the past four years. He has participated in SSC, Metro Student Leadership Program, cross country, track, plays, musicals, band and the Group of Forty Program. The class he enjoyed most was drama.

Jeff looks forward to attending a big university next year and meeting many new people. The only thing he would change about his high school years would be being more friendly to all the people he was in activities with instead of trying to fit in with the "popular" group.

He has been a good student and has made many accomplishments. He has spent much time in his studies and has ceive his diploma, he makes senior class president his most memorable achievement. He has some time left to go before he graduates from high school and goes to college. He is majoring in engineering. He's going to the innumerable parties with being a senior indication that he probably enjoys partying.

"Senior Personality," Veda Isom

by Eric Vineyard

"I really would like to remember the feeling of being a part of (the) Webster Groves High School family for four years." Veda Isom, a Webster Groves High School Senior, has been a very involved part of the Webster family. "I feel like a big sister and I enjoy helping our fairly new members . . . I most enjoyed the student and faculty relationship. The faculty is so helpful and friendly."

She has been involved in Turkey Day activities for all four of her high school years. As a member of the Junior and Senior Student Service Council and Student Awareness and Action, she contributed to student politics. She was a member of STAR, an organization that helps the needy. To complement her academic achievements, Veda also played varsity basketball and volleyball.

Veda is also an ambitious person. "I plan to attend college . . . I really look forward to the chance of being on my own and to see what the world has to offer . . . In the next ten years, I see myself being one of the top accountants in a major accounting firm . . . I would like to be a successful Certified Public Accountant. I want to eventually own my own accounting firm. I also believe that I will be married and living comfortably."

When she looks back at her high school years, she remembers some good times and some things she wishes she could do over. "My favorite class was Spanish because it was nice pretending you were in a different country." Her favorite teachers include Diana Simler, Bernice O'Brien, Susan Patrick, Mary Ellen Mongan, and Martha Lane.

"I would change the list of priorities I had in my freshman and sophomore years. School was not number one as it should have been."

The person Veda admires the most is her father. "He is getting ready to retire and he has done exactly what he set out to do before he started his career . . . He has taught me right from wrong and he has set examples for me that have really influenced many big decisions that I had to make . . . I want to accomplish my goals as he accomplished his."

Veda feels that drugs are the plague of today's youth. "Drugs are affecting the world severely. They are fatal and many people do not know how to deal with them."

Communicator, school legislator, and athlete, Veda Isom is definitely reaching for the top and getting closer and closer to her goal.

"Senior Personality," Amy Snyder

by Marc Hornkohl and Steve Casinger

"Faculty and friends have made high school very memorable," says Amy. As with most students certain members of the faculty tend to stick out, some of Amy's favorites include the easy going history teacher Lou Hoffmann, Phil Wojak the witty physicist, Flo Ryan the friendly secretary, down in unit 102, and Amy's favorite, Gene Howle the crazy chemist who is known for his distinct and original way of tell-

Brains and a great feeling for her school are what paved the way for senior, Amy Snyder, who has taken part in such activities as concert choir, Echo paper, SSC, and the National Honor Society. This mild-mannered varsity cheerleader has been kept busy both in school and out. "I acolyte at Webster Hill Methodist Church and help in the nursery."

ing a student that he has given the "wrong" answer.

"Next year I plan to attend college, I'm looking forward to standing on my own two feet."

In ten years from now Amy sees herself just settling down to start a family while working part time, but for now Amy plans to kick back and ride that magic carpet through the year and try to make it all happen.

World problems for Amy seemed to be based right here at home with some of the people around her. "People seem to have a high interest in themselves and not their neighbor."

If there is one thing Amy wants to remember about her high school years she ways "I want to remember the sense of accomplishment, pride, individuality, and the fun of senior year.

"Senior Personality," Stephanie Smith by Alyssa Hilkene

For Stephanie Smith, high school has been like a drama production, with her family, as well as many close friends and good teachers, playing key roles.

As a junior, Stephanie became involved in Drama. "I only wish I had the courage to get involved with drama earlier," she says.

Obviously, a major role in this production would go to drama teacher Mr. Kenney. Other important people in her life include her family, teachers Ms. Lindbergh, Mr. Solomon, and both Mr. and Mrs. Wojak; Webster graduates Carol Davis and Wendy Warford; and singers Peter Gabriel and Bono.

One of the things Stephanie likes most about Webster is the people. "I have wonderful friends here," she says. "The people at Webster are so friendly and tolerant; there is such a wide spectrum of people here."

She is involved with a wide spectrum of people, in a variety of activities. Besides spending time in her church Fellowship group she has been a member of the band, the flag corps and the Art Club, and now has a part-time job at Pantera's and a Pegasus internship, helping out at Metroplex in Kirkwood.

For next year, Stephanie is looking forward meeting new people and being in a new atmosphere at college, although not sure what college she wants to attend.

"Senior Personality," Wilmetta Toliver by Camille Kellet

Wilmetta Toliver wouldn't change a thing about her high school years because, "Even when I made mistakes, it was good because I did learn."

"Webster has offered me a diverse number of courses," Wilmetta stated. AP American History stood out as her favorite. She has also taken advantage of Webster's extra curricular program, participating in SSC, SLB, SADD, STAR, AFS, SAA, Public Affairs Club, basketball, Debate, and several choirs. She added, "Webster has opened my eyes to the many opportunities that I have."

These activities have given Wilmetta a chance to interact with many people, make decisions and solve problems. A major problem facing the world to day is lack of communication, Wilmetta feels, because "It creates a lot of misunderstanding."

Wilmetta remembers many faculty members, from Pat Voss to Joe Parente the hall monitor. But what she wants to remember most about her senior year is the friendships she has maintained and the problems she has dealt with which has helped her become more aware.

High school will be hard to leave behind, for it has been thoroughly enjoyable for Wilmetta. But she states about college, "I'm looking forward to really getting away, meeting new people, and being on my own."

Wilmetta plans to pursue International Relations as a career and sees herself in ten years working in an embassy, as a Congresswoman, or for a national broadcasting network.

"Senior Personality," Karen Wallace
by Howard Peck

Karen Wallace has all the qualities of a good student; above average grades, popularity, and active in extra-curricular activities. An avid athlete, Karen plays softball, basketball, volleyball, and is a member of the track team. She also is a member of SSC and is a National Merit semi-finalist.

Being with all her friends and meeting new people has been most enjoyable to Karen during her high school life. "I'd like to remember all the good times with my friends, a win on Turkey Day, the prom, and all the traditional senior things when I look back on high school," said Karen.

Taking after her dad, who teaches electricity here at Webster High, Karen wants to major in education in college and go on to teach high school or junior high. The most influential teachers for Karen have been Kay Wojak, Jerry Solmon, and Jim Horn, all English teachers. The biggest problem facing the world in Karen's eye, seems to be lack of communication, which could explain why she likes English and wants to teach. Though she is looking forward to the independence and the new people and places away at college, she thinks her parents influenced her more than anyone.

Tony Best

There has never been a football game where senior, Tony Best's name wasn't mentioned over the loud speaker, while the bright lights above shone on his number. Many will remember Tony's spectacular performances on the football field for years to come. This outstanding senior has lead the Statesmen in many victories during his four years of high school.

Tony started playing football, basketball, and baseball his freshman year, and has continued football and baseball through his senior year. Tony believes that going out for sports is really good for a person and opens them up to others.

Tony enjoys sports at W.G.H.S. because, for each individual, there's a right sport for him/her.

Tony's parents have influenced him greatly and have advised him to make the most of his high school years, and prepare himself for college. Even though a definite college is undecided right now, Tony will definitely major in Business Administration.

Throughout his high school years, Tony has admired, power tech instructor, Lynn Tatlow, and friend, Mrs. Grady. Tony says, "Mrs. Grady treats everyone the same, she's so nice to everyone, she doesn't care who you are, all she wants to do is help."

In ten years, Tony sees himself working successfully with a big corporation and hopefully happy. But he feels that a big problem in the world is getting a job that lets you live a comfortable life.

As a mature adult, Tony will look back on his high school years with a sense of pride and remember the football games that made him proud. Though some students don't realize how valuable their high school years are until their senior year, this senior knows each year was memorable in its own way and he wouldn't change a thing about them.

Alyssa Hilkene

"Senior Personality," Nicole Hammonds by Jennifer Kelley

"I think the biggest problem is that people don't have dreams," said senior Nicole Hammonds. "If everybody had a dream and worked for that dream the world would be a better place." Nicole is working on her own dream. She wants to be an entertainer and ten years from now she sees herself "fairly well known" doing just that.

Nicole would like to pursue a singing career, but she also says, "I know I have some unfinished business to take care of like furthering my education in Business School so that I can take care of myself."

Next year, she plans to work in some musical projects while taking business classes. Nicole has already sung her way through "Grease," "Guys and Dolls," and "Fiddler on the Roof."

The biggest influence in Nicole's life has been her family. Her greatest inspiration has been her mother. "She raised me, took care of me, and made sure I was happy. My mother taught me to have my own mind and use it."

ECHO ESSENCE MAGAZINE

The 1988 Yearbook staff would like to introduce a magazine section this year. It's a collection of events that happened at Webster High and from all over the world. Some of the information was taken from our own Echo newspaper and others from local newspapers and magazines. We hope, ten years from now, you will reflect back on what was happening in the world and at Webster High in 1987-88. The St. Louis Post Dispatch has "Everyday Magazine", and now Webster High has "Echo Essence Magazine".

The World and Webster High — 1987-88

FAILURES, PUNKERS, BURNOUTS. All are separate and unequal social classes. Each is a standard stereotype. Stereotypes are based on one characteristic that people in each clique share in common. Common stereotypes such as this are found in many high schools: punkers, are pictured as Neo-Nazi dope addicts; burnouts are thought to smoke grass every day and get trashed every night; failures can't do anything right, and if they do they screw it up. (by Matthew Schneer, ECHO newspaper).

"Who'll care about these two old dames?" Bette Davis, 79, commenting on her new film, The Wales of August, with 91-year-old Lillian Gish Summer vacation means sleeping late, getting tan and watching Cardinals baseball right? Not to three WGES students. Last summer senior Jeremy McConnell, Jay Hu and Stacey Galaway turned in their baseball hats for an opportunity to make new friends and broaden their horizons.

If I have to appoint another one, I'll try to find one that they'll object to just as much as they did for this one — Ronald Reagan, before his Supreme Court nomination of Judge Robert Bork was rejected by the Senate.

Judgement: After five days of grilling on his judicial philosophy, Supreme Court nominee Robert Bork (left) was rejected by Joe Biden and 57 other senators.

SPORTS

JULIUS ERVING: PEOPLE LOOKED UP TO HIM AND NOT JUST BECAUSE DR. J. IS SIX FEET SEVEN. AFTER 16 SEASONS AND MORE THAN 30,000 POINTS, THE NBA'S IDENTIFIED FLYING OBJECT AND ALL-AROUND NICE GUY RETIRED AT THE AGE OF 37.

JACKIE JOYNER-KERSEE: THE 25-YEAR-OLD TIED THE WOMEN'S WORLD RECORD IN THE LONG JUMP (24' 5 1/2") AND TOOK HOME HER SECOND WORLD HEPTATHLON (SEVEN EVENTS) CHAMPIONSHIP.

BENITO SANTIAGO: A UNANIMOUS CHOICE FOR N.L. ROOKIE OF THE YEAR, HIS 34-GAME HITTING STREAK WAS THE LONGEST FOR A ROOKIE, A CATCHER OR A SAN DIEGO PADRE, AND 15TH LONGEST IN MAJOR LEAGUE HISTORY.

WONDER WOMAN: FORMER EAST ST. LOUIS HIGH STANDOUT JACKIE JOYNER-KERSEE IS NAMED THE ASSOCIATED PRESS FEMALE ATHLETE OF THE YEAR FOR 1987.

Millions of football fans stayed home as National Football League players struck, owners stood firm and nobody won.

SOC CER: The varsity soccer team enjoyed its best season in Webster High history. Already the Suburban South champs, the Statesmen went up against highly ranked DuBourg for the District championship. The game was deadlocked at 0-0 with less than two minutes to play when Jack McKittrick, as he had done all season, found a way to put the ball in the net amidst a sea of red shirts.

With the victory over DuBourg, the Statesmen earned the right to play the defending state champs, Parkway West, in Sectional play. The game was tied at 1-1 with only three minutes left in regulation when a Longhorn goal rained on Webster's parade to the state championship. Great season guys.

"WASHINGTON REDSKINS WIN THE SUPER BOWL IN SAN DIEGO"

IN THE SPRING, EVANGELISTS AND A PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE FELL FROM GRACE. DURING THE FALL, CALIFORNIA QUAKED, THE STOCK MARKET CRUMBED AND GORBACHEV STIRRED UP THE WORLD. BASEBALL PITCHER DWIGHT GOODEN, 22, STARTED HIS FOURTH SEASON WITH THE METS BY ENTERING A NEW YORK CITY DRUG REHABILITATION CENTER. AFTER TREATMENT, HE RETURNED TO THE MOUND IN JUNE.

SUMMIT President Reagan greeted Soviet head of state Mikhail Gorbachev right on the south lawn of the White House before the two men signed a treaty to ban medium-and shorter-range nuclear missiles from Europe and Asia.

"If anybody wants to put a tail on me, go ahead. They'd be very bored." — Democratic presidential candidate Gary Hart, inviting reporters to check out his alleged "womanizing."

"If I could have been planning his weekend schedule, I think I would have scheduled it differently." — Lee Hart

"It's like Mickey and Minnie have been kicked out of Disney World." — Charlotte, N.C., waitress Sherry Thurber, commenting on the Bakker's expulsion from their PTL empire.

ECHO ESSENCE

WHICH IS THE BIGGER GOODBYE?

Just two weeks into the year, one could argue that 1988 is a lost cause for the St. Louis sports community.

On Jan. 6, slugger Jack Clark defected from the Cardinals to the New York Yankees. And on Friday, Jan. 15, owner Bill Bidwill delivered his long-awaited decision about a future home for the football Cardinals by announcing the team will move to Phoenix.

All of which made us wonder: Which does the St. Louis sports community consider a bigger goodbye? the defection of Clark, possibly damaging the Cardinals' hopes for a 1988 pennant? Or the move of the Cardinals, and the likely end of pro football in St. Louis?

1987-88 said goodbye to a lot of people, things and stuff. It was a time of joy and sadness... God willing, there's always tomorrow, and the future is ours.

The market crashed, and everyone became less secure.

GOODBYE...

HENRY FORD, 70, revived the family business with cars like Thunderbird and Mustang. "Never complain. Never explain," was his motto.

HAROLD WASHINGTON, 65, became Chicago's first black mayor and in April handily won reelection to a second term.

Helen Green WGHS Counselor

Helen Green, former teacher and counselor in the Webster school district, died of cancer Wednesday, November 14, 1987.

Mrs. Green retired last June after 23 years of counseling at WGHS following 12 years as a social studies and English teacher in the district.

In an ECHO newspaper article last May 1987, Mrs. Green said, "As a teacher, I was concerned with some of the individual problems students had, and I wanted to work with them individually. I like working with young people."

Green enjoyed seeing the progress of her former students. "It's nice to see that people who might have been somehow troubled earlier are now feeling responsible, trusted, and worthwhile, and have good jobs. It's very satisfying to see the growth in people," Mrs. Green said.

CLARA PELLER, reportedly 86, a four-foot-ten ex-manicurist, increased Wendy's revenues 32 percent by asking on TV: "Where's the beef?"

LIBERACE, 67, consummate showman, glitzed up concerts with furs, rhinestones and that ever-shining candelabra.

RAY BOLGER, 83, danced down Broadway and Hollywood's Yellow Brick Road in the highly original, loose-limbed style he described as "throwing my body around."

JAMES BALDWIN, 63, was a rich voice for civil rights both in his daring novels and 1963 The Fire Next Time.

Students Interests and Concerns

Can popularity be justified?

by Kassidy Kilker

What exactly is the definition of popularity? Is it the stud football player? The president of the student council? Captain of the cheerleading squad? Maybe in some high schools it is. Are these people popular just because they are well known and admired? Or is it because they might be generally nice and caring people?

Senior Kathy Holland commented, "I think a popular person is not defined by their title, but by their personality and their attitude towards people."

"A popular person is a person who is understanding and well known for their good personality, throughout the school," said Chuck Scheckley.

Popularity is sometimes based on a name everyone knows instead of a person everyone knows. For instance, everyone knows the captain of the cheerleading squad because everyone sees her. But do they see the person or the uniform?

When the subject of popularity is brought up, cliques may come to mind. What is defined, for instance, as a "burnout"? The person who wears Motley Crue jackets and spends most of their time in the courtyard smoking cigarettes? What's the difference between him or her and the girl wearing the Esprit outfit with her Liz Claiborne purse, also smoking a cigarette? Or how about the guy with a mohawk who has an 'A' average? There shouldn't be any difference, but a lot of people think there is.

"As soon as you come into this school, you're immediately labeled either as preppy, snob, burnout, punk-rocker, or nerd. People don't even have a chance because once you're labeled, you're stuck with it for four years," stated senior Elaine Rash.

Senior varsity cheerleader Liz Engler thinks that just being in a uniform doesn't automatically make her popular.

"I'm proud to be a cheerleader, but not because I think it makes me any more popular than without it. People should see you for what you are inside before you are categorized," she said.

But what about the people who are already labeled? Sophomore Thom Williams, who recently appeared in an issue of the Webster-Kirkwood Times featuring 'punk-rockers', doesn't really let all the labeling that goes on between high school kids bother him.

"I get along pretty much with everyone. I definitely think there are cliques but I don't really let them bother me," said Williams.

Another problem with popularity is that people want to be popular for the wrong reasons. They strive to be accepted by their peers but sometimes only end up causing more problems for themselves.

Senior Tammy Metz commented, "When I was a freshman, it wasn't 'in' to be an individualist, you had to be 'preppy' to be accepted, or so I thought. I wanted to be popular because I was young and impressionable. But over the years, I've learned that I can be liked not for what other people stand for, but for what I stand for."

Concerts take St. Louis by storm

U2

by Heather Maring

The U2 concert experience, the group's talent, powerful chords, and political message was enough to meld the crowd into one voice and one feeling — utter awe.

"It was the most incredible experience of my life. I just can't describe it. It was deep!" said junior Lamar Fitzgerald.

U2 lead singer Bono, guitarist The Edge, drummer Larry Mullen Jr., and bassist Adam Clayton. The band opened with "Where the Street Have No Name", a song on their recent album "The Joshua Tree". Lead singer, Bono, ran on stage wearing a Cardinal's jacket and visor in tribute to the last game of the World Series being played that night.

U2 jammed through The Joshua Tree album and many of their old hits such as "Sunday Bloody Sunday", "New Year's Day" and "Pride".

Later a girl climbed onto the stage and ended up spinning in Bono's arms, bringing many people to tears. It felt as if Bono's love was radiating through the entire audience.

"It was great, the best concert of the year. If you weren't there, you really missed something," said junior Becky Lambert.

The Fixx

by Linda Hargraves

On October 19, at 7:30, the Westport Playhouse was filled to capacity. The eager crowd awaited The Fixx. True, the Playhouse is not the Arena, but every seat is as good as front row in the small theatre, and The Fixx put on an excellent show in the more intimate surroundings.

The Fixx put on a two hour show, with sets including 'Red Skies at Night', 'Are We Ourselves', 'Stand or Fall', and 'One Thing Leads to Another'.

Small but devoted groups of fans sang along with the band, got up and danced, and ushers finally gave up the task of trying to get people seated.

As The Fixx left the stage, the audience, of course, still anticipated the hit 'Saved by Zero'. Sections of the audience were illuminated by hand-held lighters as fans chanted the title of the song. Finally they heard it, and left the Playhouse satisfied.

Webster students are lucky to be exposed to such a unique, diverse and enthusiastic faculty. Webster High is more than just a school. Academics are not the only things going on. Thanks to teachers taking time out of personal schedules to work with students on outside activities.

Students caught up in Webb of history knowledge

by Tarek El-Mofty

It is very likely that Budd Webb, Webster Groves history teacher, is the only Hindu in the school. Webb, who has been teaching at Webster for 20 years, has a strong interest in the study of philosophy, Eastern religions. He considers himself a Hindu and believes in reincarnation.

In his free time Webb likes to watch the game show Jeopardy because he likes to figure out the questions. He also listens to classical music, and reads biographies, especially biographies about off-the-wall artists. He likes the unusual, even in his students. He says, "Nonconforming students are more interesting to teach." Piano playing is another one of Webb's hobbies.

Webb also enjoys collecting classic movies, mainly those from the 1930's, and he's a great fan of the Charlie Chaplin comedies. "I'm having a ball with the new video cassettes," he commented.

He also likes to stay in shape. He does so by following a strict plan which he calls the "Webb workout plan". This entails 200 sit-ups every morning and regular walking.

During his 26-year teaching career, Webb doesn't think things have changed greatly, except that there are more teaching materials available now.

As for the kids, he says, "You have to look at the past realistically." Webb does perceive differences in kids today in relation to those of the 50s and 60s. Interracial relationships, which are no longer shocking, are no longer an issue. The students of today are less conforming and more tolerant of individual differences than those of the 50s and 60s. He adds, however, that the students of the past were more self disciplined.

One of Webb's current students, Alicia LaChance, said, "I'm impressed with Mr. Webb's knowledge on almost any subject, the man's mind is a dictionary of historic facts."

Senior Derek Main says, "Mr. Webb is probably the most intellectual teacher in the school."

The Game: Kirkwood 2, Webster 0

Kirkwood's quarterback is taken for a loss. Senior Tony Best ... football star. Webster's line tries to create a path to the end zone. Junior Matt Arrandale kicks off.

It was just one of those freak things.

The annual Turkey Day football game between Webster and Kirkwood usually means the Frisco Bell will be in its rightful place, the halls of Webster High. But this year the Pioneers got a gift-wrapped 2-0 victory over the Statesmen at Kirkwood in the 75th meeting between the two teams.

With 50 seconds left in a 0-0 game, overtime for the second consecutive season seemed like a good possibility. But John Dames' snap sailed over the head of punter Tony Best and out of the end zone, giving Kirkwood a safety and the victory.

Judging by the pattern of the game, it seemed fitting that one team would win on the other's mistake. Both teams failed to capitalize on excellent scoring opportunities throughout the game.

The Statesmen got their first break early when they tackled Kirkwood punter Jon Nelson on his own 26. But they couldn't move the ball and failed on a fake field-goal attempt.

On its next possession, Webster Groves drove to Kirkwood's 1-yard line, but a goal-line stand kept the game scoreless. The Statesmen tried another fake field goal, but Nelson intercepted the pass in the end zone.

Kirkwood's defense mounted another goal-line stand in the fourth quarter after Best returned a punt 66 yards to the Pioneers' 4. Chris Arrandale missed an 18-yard field goal, ending the threat. After Arrandale's missed field goal attempt, neither team threatened again.

With the victory, the Pioneers finished at 5-5 and retained possession of the Frisco Bell. Webster ended its season at 4-6.

Hall Decorations

With Thanksgiving on its way, Webster's Turkey Day excitement grew and showed itself throughout the school. This year, Webster's halls were transformed into a spirited jungle that held many dangers for our Kirkwood rival. This was accomplished by the students creative artwork. Each advisement was given its own area to decorate and in this way the entire school participated. Although all of the displays were great, a panel of parents judged them to reward the best. They allowed for three winners in each grade level with first place receiving $25, second receiving $15 and third receiving $10. This money could be spent on a small party to reward the students. The winning advisement classes were as follows: For the freshmen, Mr. Lutker's advisement took first place with Ms. Bickley's and Mrs. Haase's tying for second. For the Sophomores Ms. Waskow's advisement won first prize, Ms. Rock's second and Mr. Horak's third. For the Juniors, there was a tie for first prize between Ms. O'Brien and Mr. Muth. Mr. Hoffman's advisement came in second. For the seniors, Ms. Grady's advisement took first followed by Mr. Miller in second and Mrs. Simon in third.

Turning our tradition of decorating into a contest really seemed to encourage more school spirit this year.

Pep Rally

In accordance with our Turkey Day jungle theme, this years Pep Rally certainly turned our gym into one. The excitement and school spirit were evident from the beginning as the concert choir began the rally with their Turkey Day rap. Next the Flags entertained the crowd with their routine as the pep band played "Twist and Shout". The Pom Pons then dazzled the audience with dances to "Come Go with Me" and "Funky Town". The rowdy students were then ready to be led in some cheers by the Junior Varsity and Varsity cheerleaders. Finally the stars of the rally, our Varsity Football team, were introduced and cheered on as they received T-Day mugs from the Varsity Cheerleaders. To complete Websters Turkey Day festivities, the Senior class performed the traditional Senior line dance in typical chaotic style.

Marching Statesman Band

Do you realize that Webster has a very excellent band program? The band program offers students a wide variety of opportunities and a very good music background that results in the well-roundedness of the individual, and being well-rounded is a factor that will help these individuals to be accepted into a good college or to get a good job.

The Marching Statesmen provided the fans a special treat at home-game halftime performances. As usual, the Marching Statesmen kept spirits high in the stands with their support of the cheerleaders, and according to the comments of the viewers, they were a smashing success. In addition to this, they took part in the Flat River, Missouri Marching Contest, which marks their first time in competition marching in many years.

Band instructor Mr. John Johnson said, "Since this was my first Turkey Day, I must tell you that nowhere have I seen so much fun, excitement, and enthusiasm as I witnessed this year." The senior line dance, the rap by the concert choir, and the pom pon and flag corps performances were great. Of course, participating in the funeral and watching the cremation of the Kirkwood football effigy was really something to behold. Although the football team lost the big game, they gave us more than 100% effort. A special thanks is extended to the faithful pep band students who braved the cold wind and rain at Kirkwood.

Last summer the Marching Statesmen was one of about ten marching bands invited to march in the V.P. Fair Parade. To start all the V.P. Fair activities the parade was on June 2nd. The parade had an audience of over a quarter of a million people along the downtown streets. Two days later, the Marching Statesmen marched in the annual Webster Grove Parade. This parade was a little less formal and we were playing for a more familiar crowd.

At Christmas time Webster's band showed its spirit by sponsoring a Christmas Brass Ensemble. This group of eight students, under the organization of Mr. Don Anderson and student David Dysart, performed during the Christmas holiday season at local shopping centers.

This summer the Marching Statesmen are going to try something new. In June of the upcoming summer we are going to have a band camp in Missouri, secluded in the woods for a week. One goal will be accomplished . . . to learn the fall marching show. During the days there the band will have some free time for sports, swimming or other activities. Overall, this band camp will get our fall show learned, eliminating extra practices when school starts.

The 1987-88 Pom Pon Squad dazzled crowds at home football and basketball games this year with the assistance of newcomer Julie Hill, as their sponsor. The squad is made up of 27 talented girls, who combine dance and marching technique to add sparkle to the Statesman Marching Band. The squad is led by Captain Holly Sheffler and Co-Captains Nikki Corno and Sherwin Strickland. The squad didn't limit their activities to just the high school, but also competed at the Lindbergh Pom Pon Invitational Contest on December 12, and at Our Lady of Life Nursing Home in December. The Pom Pons have always made each year more inventive and exciting for all Statesman fans and will continue to do so for years to come.

This years Girls Softball season was a disappointing one, however, it showed who the team leaders were. The team was led by senior co-captains Sara Bailey, Katie Busch, Suzie Lowell and senior Veda Isom. Bailey was the starting catcher for the whole season, and added the power by slugging a couple humeruns. Busch was one of the most versatile starters, playing at several different positions. Lowell was a strong pitcher and a consistent outfielder, while Veda Isom was the starting centerfielder and had a strong arm to hold down the position.

A powerful group of Juniors held the team together, too. Carrie Deppong boosted an impressive .326 average and has played every game at shortstop since the middle of last year. Junior Julie Stratmann played a consistent first base. Shari Montgomery kept the hot corner at third base cooled off with strong defense and an accurate throwing arm.

The Varsity Soccer Team enjoyed their best season in the 21 year history of the program.

The Statesmen compiled an awesome 18-5-2 record in winning both the Suburban South and District championships.

The team was led by senior Jack McKittrick, a transfer from CBC. McKittrick scored 19 goals and was the difference between this years team, and a team that went just 9-13 a year ago.

Webster's offense, which outscored opponents 73-20, was led by Dan Consiglio (14), Lance Gilbert (10), Tony Nea, Stafford Warneke, and Hunter Beckham. The stinger defenders that played in front of Kevin MacBryde (0:80 G.A.A.) were Barry Jaynes, Mike McCollum, Mark Yates, and David Tabscott.

A strong bench was one of Coach Tom Holmes biggest assets. Andy Duke, Fred Reed, Pat Devlin, Brian Knapp, Cammy Weyhrich, Chris Murphy, Jim Nease, Jeremy McConnell and Mike Wilborn consistently put in stellar performances when called to duty.

Unproven Players Produce a 20-6 Season

The varsity boys basketball team entered the 1987-88 season not knowing full well if they could maintain the standard of excellence that previous Webster teams had enjoyed.

With Jerome Chambers being the lone returning starter, Coach Tim Moore was counting on unproven players to step in and continue the Statesmen's history of success.

Senior Bryan Laws, a 6'6 center proved to be a tough rebounder and showed a nice shooting touch from the outside. His 15 points per game was second on the team only to Chambers 25. 6'3 senior Mark Thornhill knew his role and played it well. Thornhill usually picked up the most difficult defensive assignment, rebounded, and got the ball inside to the big men. Travis Snelling was a terror from 3-point land, broke the press, and displayed great court savvy. Eric Johnson was always exciting to watch. He led the fast break, was tough defensively, and played the game with boyish enthusiasm.

Moore counted on Chuck Washington, Lamont Thornhill, Matt Arrandale, Dan Fugate, and Richard Johns to come off the bench and provide a spark whenever called upon.

At the end of the regular season, Moore had shuffled this group of unknown, unproven players to 20 wins and second place finishes in both the Meramec and Vianney tournaments.

Members of the ART CLUB always go to many different portfolio days. Altho' the annual trip to the Chicago Art Institute was not possible this year, the ART CLUB did attend and participate at Washington University's portfolio day. Many honors and scholarships were earned.

The ART CLUB awards scholarships and recognizes students' achievements each year. The ART CLUB will also help you with information on many colleges and institutes. The seniors have special graduation tassels to acknowledge being a member of the ART CLUB.

Our chapter #25 is a charter chapter, one of the oldest chapters of 300.

Membership is open to Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors. The initiation fee is $5.00. Freshmen are also welcome to come and take part in the club.

The ART CLUB involves its members in a variety of activities such as silkscreening T-shirts and participating in many art competitions and shows. This year we were asked to design a mural for the Music Department.

DECA

DECA, Distributive Education Clubs of America is the only national student organization operating through the nation's high schools to attract young people to careers in marketing, merchandising, and management.

DECA's objectives are to develop the students knowledge of marketing and distribution and to promote understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in this competitive corporate world of ours.

Our DECA chapter has been at Webster for 25 years and is headed by, sponsor, Dennis Kruse. The clubs officers are President, Byron Reeves, Vice-Presidents Court Weston and Cindy Budzinski, Secretary J.J. Webster Community Campus (WCC) is now in its 17th year as a very unique opportunity for juniors and seniors to do volunteer work in their community. Virtually offered any two hours of the day, the course is designed mainly for students who wish to pursue job interests and career choices. Sponsored by Ms. Vera Imse and Ms. Kay Wojak, WCC also has many expectations. Weekly reports are due, which sum up the student's learning experience of that particular week. Attendance records and reports from their bosses are all in their final grade.

CLUB AND ORGANIZATIONS 159

Thespians Troup 191

From their first meeting on December 22, 1931, Thespians Troup 191 has changed quite a bit. The group is made up of students who have obtained at least one hundred hours behind the scenes or on stage. The understudies wear the traditional, ceremonial beanie for a one week trial period as they undergo the rigors of a usually embarrassing initiation. The club is sponsored by Master Thespian, Ron Kenney and meets after school in Room 231 when meetings are called.

The Thespians sponsor the annual musical, Theatresports, trips to the International and State Conventions, St. Louis Regional Thespian picnic, Alumni tea, and fund raisers such as flower sales and shakers.

The Public Affairs Club

The purpose of the Public Affairs Club is to help students become better informed about vital issues facing the people of the world.

Members of the club plan workshops on public issues. Usually four workshops are planned for each school year. Significant local, state, national and international issues are topics. This year, for example, the topics were AIDS, the situation in Central America, the crisis in the Persian Gulf, and the trade deficit.

Quality rather than quantity is stressed. The club tries to bring top names to the campus to make presentations. Two years ago Lt. Governor Harriett Woods accepted the club's invitation to address the student body about important state issues.

Last year the club sponsored speakers and videos on terrorism and the situation in South Africa. It also invited five foreign exchange students from local universities to talk about how their nations view American foreign policy positions.

The club also rents excellent films and video cassettes on current topics which all teachers are welcome to borrow.

Club membership is open to all grade levels. Student must have a "C" average and be recommended by a social studies teacher.

The Students for Awareness and Action (SAA) as a group was formed in the 1960's to address the social issues of that era. Today the club serves as a service and fund raising group to award scholarships for needy students going to college.

All students of WGHS are welcome to join by expressing that desire. The club meets monthly in the sponsors classroom (Mr. Drake).

Activities conducted are bake sales, talent shows, dances and fashion shows. The group also sponsors the annual Dr. Martin Luther King assembly each January.

Nation Honor Society

Every year only a few students are chosen to become members of The Nation Honor Society. To become a member, one must have a 3.85 grade point average for seven semesters. A student is also evaluated on service, leadership and character.

Commended Scholars: Seated, Jennifer Saunders, Janet Blair, Marcy Castle and Mary Clark. Standing, Marta Dykhuizen, David Ressner, Barry Jaynes, Gregory Swanson, and Lorna Whitfield. (Ted Morris is in Japan this year.)

Nine Webster Groves High School seniors are semifinalists in the 1988 National Merit Scholarship Program, 10 more are commended students, and one senior has been commended by the National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students.

It is the largest group of seniors at the High School to make the top scholastic rankings since 1982. The group constitutes nearly 10 percent of the senior class.

The nine semifinalists scored in the top one-and-a-half percent of the more than one million students nationwide who took the PSAT/NMSQT, the national merit qualifying test, last fall. They are eligible to compete for merit scholarships to be awarded under the program in the spring.

Edward (Ted) Morris is living with a Japanese family in Kyoto, Japan, and attending a Japanese high school this year.

Lorna Whitfield was commended by the national achievement program for scoring in the top six percent of 80,000 black students nationwide who took the PSAT/NMSQT and asked for consideration under the achievement program.

Commended students are recognized for their outstanding academic promise, and their names are sent to colleges and universities nationwide.

Model U.N.

Model U.N. is an organization that develops the students' interest in foreign affairs. The organization sends 10 delegates from WGHS to mock U.N. assemblies in which 15 area St. Louis schools participate. The Model U.N. students try to resolve the major problems that face the world today. To be a member of Model U.N., you must be highly interested in foreign affairs.

Debate has been an activity at Webster for 40 years, but the present team concept has only been in existence for 8 years. The 1987-88 debate squad is 23 strong. The group, composed of both two man team debaters and Lincoln Douglas debaters, has entered more speech tournaments than any team in recent memory. This year's topics range from changes in U.S. policy in Latin America to the question of whether arts or sciences better improve society.

Team members have won trophies and have become members of the National Forensic League as they have debated teams from high schools representing the Greater St. Louis area.

Debate is a class that meets daily, third and fourth hour. Debates are on Tuesday during October, November and December and on weekends in October through January.

AFS

For over 25 years, the American Field Service (AFS) has hosted students from all over the world, and has made them a big part of life at Webster Groves High School.

This year, Webster's AFS program sponsored three foreign exchange students, as well as one teacher. These three students were Pedro Primo from Spain, Goh Sakurai from Japan, and Laurence Dumas from France. Yeh Hongping is an English teacher in China spending this year in Webster improving her English and learning different teaching techniques to use in her classroom when she returns home. Another member of AFS was Ralph Kellenberger. Ralph was here on a Rotary Club exchange program.

The group helps these students adjust to high school life and in return makes our students more aware of different countries in the world around them. Led by president Becky Douglas, vice-president Beth Swanson, secretary Thu Doan, and treasurer Stacey Galloway, the group is sponsored by Mrs. Masson and meets about every two weeks in room 357.

SLB, Student Legislative Board

The Student Legislative Board is an organization made up of students from grades 9 through 12 that acts as liaison between the student body and the administration. The club has been at Webster for 25 years and has been sponsored by Jim Horn for 6 years.

The SLB is responsible for the establishment, review, and revision of the student constitution. It is also entrusted with the operation of the Student Commons. It charters student organizations and distributes Board of Control funds to student organizations.

Students are elected and petitioned to SLB by their peers. SLB meets every Friday at 7:30 a.m. in the Student Commons.

The Committee of 40

A Committee of Forty was initiated this school year. This group of forty people focused on the idea of positive peer influence to improve the learning climate at Webster High. The students talked with other students in advisement classes and attended several sections of the ninth grade advisements to inform the ninth graders of academic and extra-curricular traditions available at Webster Groves High School. The results of this effort were impressive. The annual Friendship Dance, with Kirkwood, was held in early November. An outstanding crowd in past years was less than three hundred students. Eight hundred and twenty five students attended this years dance. The Committee of Forty also took on the task of improving involvement in the hall decorations for Turkey Day. By organizing this activity through advisement groups, the hall decorations were the best they have been in years. There were also higher progress report grades than last year. These improvements may or not be the direct results of the Committee of Forty efforts, but any effort to improve the learning environment here at Webster Groves High is greatly appreciated.

Last Summer Students Participated In Workshop On Leadership At Potosi, Mo.

About 30 Webster Groves High School students were chosen to participate in a two-day workshop at Trout Lodge in Potosi, Mo. to promote a positive school environment.

The project, brainchild of the school's principal, Dan Edwards, was designed to increase the students' awareness of how the use of leadership skills can help the students communicate while working with one another.

Participants were chosen by fellow students based on a survey that asked all 1,300 students at the high school to list one person who represented their point of view on a variety of issues. Edwards said the students selected to attend the workshop were economically and racially mixed. Sophomores, juniors and seniors were selected.

The retreat was divided into two phases. Phase one tested character against the environment while forcing students to work together as a team.

The second phase involved workshops dealing with leadership, communication, and decision making skills. Workshop participants were expected to get to know each other and to discuss ways to improve the school's environment for learning.

Edwards recruited volunteers from the community, teachers from the high school and St. Louis County Youth Program staff to provide leadership and support for the retreat.

Recognizing the importance of all groups to the school and understanding the needs of others were two important factors emphasized during the retreat. Formulating and reinforcing positive student activities while utilizing leadership and decision making skills were also major objectives of the retreat, Edwards said.

Dr. Dan Edwards

ECHO Yearbook Staff

The 1988 ECHO Yearbook Staff added two new sections to this year's yearbook. One was the "Senior Personality" section, which focused on just a few of the outstanding seniors of the class of 1988. The other addition was the "Echo Essence" magazine. With three staffers on both Echo paper and ECHO Yearbook, certain feature articles have been taken directly from the Echo paper for this magazine along with other news of interest in 1988.

The staff worked without editors, photographers, writers, etc. Everyone got to do a little of everything, and assignments were chosen instead of being assigned. This gave everyone a chance to work on all parts of putting a yearbook together.

The 1988 ECHO yearbook staff, under the guidance of Norm Hoffmeister, hopes you enjoy this yearbook as much as we enjoyed putting it to press.

The Award Winning ECHO Paper

For 69 years, Webster students and faculty have depended on the ECHO staff to bring them the news, and for 69 years, the staff has never failed to produce a paper.

Every day at fifth hour, staff members work hard at meeting deadlines and publishing our paper every month. To be on the ECHO staff, members must have taken typing and Journalism courses. Each staff member is responsible for selling two ads, writing two stories, designing the layout of a page, and selling the paper, both at lunch and after school. Sponsor Beth Ann Brady works side by side with the paper's editors Kristan Mont, Beth Swanson and John Dames; business manager Tarek El-Mofty, and photo editor Jessica Wright.

This year the paper has increased from 8 to 12 pages, and is one of only 13 to be named an All-Missouri paper. It also took on a new look, using a different nameplate, and the laser printer in the school's business department for typesetting.

Vickie Gardner, Jim Georgia, and David Tabson add final touches to the layout for their pages.

Cassidy Kilker and Tarek El-Mofty relax in the news room.

"Give me a Happy Ending"

According to the Missouri Inter-scholastic press, (the Surgeon General of high school yearbooks), an "award winning" yearbook should end with a positive outlook towards the upcoming year.

The 1988 Echo staff thought this year's big "V" cheerleaders would be "good enough". We hope this satisfies the student body and that this publication was well worth the $18 you paid for it.

Jess.

Hey girl! I'm glad I get to know you in good old espanol in 3rd year! Thanks again for my notes! I hope you have a fantastic summer! With my wonderful future predictions, I see many trips to Ted Drewes! as well as plenty of time out to lunch! - with no time limit or race for a parking space!
Take it easy!

Anne

Jessica,

Hillerman

you're not like a real sweetie!

Have a nice summer!

Jessica - it has been a Bias - in third hour with 400 there. You are one CRAZY chick.

I has been great being friend. hopefully next year we will still be friends. Stay cool.

Love ya

I'm sorry I haven't written you much but I have been very busy with my work and my baby since you know what happened. You will understand when you see the photo's I will send you as soon as possible.
